

Terminology Uncut

I make no apology
For this anthology.
We have to sort out
Our terminology!

Times have now changed
And we need to change too.
Read this clarification
And yes I mean you!

Whether you've been in Guiding
For three decades or three weeks,
Many of us need to make
A few linguistic tweaks.

You're not a Guider - no, not anymore
Instead you're a Leader, unlike before¹.
I hear what you're saying - 'I am a Guider'
But there are guidelines we should be obeying.

No longer should there be a
Guider-in-Charge
Instead an Event Leader
For events small and large.

It's role not appointment,
Whatever you've heard.
We've read the guidelines
And role is the word.

Adult Leadership Qualification is no more -
Drop the word Adult says Girlguiding law.
And whilst on the subject, warrant is out -
Leadership Qualification has much more clout.

Now on the topic of going away -
You need a Residential Qualification today.
A licence is for driving or owning a gun,
Not taking members away to have fun.

(Stick with me friends, I'm almost done)

Now if you are a Brownie Leader
You may take your unit away.
Be sure you don't term it a Pack Holiday
It's a Brownie Holiday - there is no other way.

Another archaic term to be told -
Girlguiding UK members don't *get enrolled*².
Instead make your promise if you so desire,
And also, in fact, you need never retire
As now here in Guiding - (this has to be said)

You can be a Leader until you are dead.
At 65 you become an Assistant,
So can't be Event Leader even if you're persistent.
As long as it's safe, you can still be a Leader³.

I hope this verse has made you chuckle
And that things ameliorate.
Let's all use the right terminology
And keep Girlguiding great.

sublime
Rhyme

Original verse for any occasion
www.SublimeRhyme.co.uk
Helen@SublimeRhyme.co.uk

 Find us on Facebook

 Follow @SublimeRhyme

¹ Since 2006, in fact

² And haven't since 1968!

³ Read the 'Adults in Guiding' section in the Policy part of the Manual: <http://goo.gl/PAQSG>